The front will be thirty-five feet wide, an unusual width for a city house, and will be constructed of Connecticut brown stone, with stone balcony and steps. The three stories will be surmounted by a high pitched roof, and the design as planned by Mr. Jas. G. Hill, the architect, is very effective. The feature of the interior arrangement of the house, which is seventy feet deep, is the large entrance hall, is seventy feet deep, is the large entrance hall, which is sixteen teet wide. The finish of this hall, which is as large as an ordinary room, will be oak, and a fine platform stair case of oak will lead to the upper stories. A capacious fireplace, opposite the parlor door, gives the hall a home-like appearance; and a large window at one side of the entrance door will make it attractive in the day time. On this floor there is also a parlor, library and dining room, with a butler's pantry and back stair case. Mr. B. H. Warner is building a fine residence on the south side of Massachusetts avenue, between 20th and 21st streets, adjoining the residence of District Attorney Worthington. The front will be twenty-six feet and Seneca brownstone will be used freely in connection with brick in the construction. A circular bay window will run to the top of the house, and the elevated position of the house will afford a fine view of the city and the river. The interior has been planned with great skill by the architect, Mr. Jas. G. Hill, and the finish will be in hard wood. Col. John Cassel, who recently purchased the property owned by Gen. Babcock on the north side of G street, between 19th and 20th streets, proposes to improve it by the erection of six hree-story houses, at a cost of $30,000. The ins have been prepared by Mr. Jas. G. TRAGICAL END OF AN ELOPEMENT.—Henry Lakey, of Crossroads church, Yadkin county, N. C., endeavored to elope with the 18-year-old daughter of James Cooley. Cooley pursued the couple, and, having the faster horse, overtook the runaways about a mile from the minister's house. Cooley called upon Lakey to give up the girl, whereupon the young man drew a revolver and shot the old man. Maine, Vermont and Oregon were the Maine, Vermont and Oregon were the only states in which elections were not held yesterday. National interest centered in the election of members of the House of Representatives. There were unexpected gains and losses in various quarters by the two parties, but the result, it is probable, will be that the House of the Fiftieth Congress will have a democratic majority but little smaller than that of the present House. The most remarkable democratic losses were in Virginia, where the meager returns of last night would seem to indicate the election of six republicans and three democrats, with one district in doubt. LEAVENWORTH, KAS., Nov. 3 .- J. W. Newer a wealthy tarmer of High Prairie, met his death Monday night in a curious manner. Newer and a man named Lacy started in a farm wagon from the city. The night was dark, and Newer insisted on standing in the wagon to better see where he was driving. About four miles out they were driving at a pretty rapid rate over a bridge, when Newer fell headlong from the wagon. Lacy stopped the wagon and found the man's neck was broken. A Victim of Cocaine.

OCTOR BORLAND, AN OCULIST AND AURIST, GOES MAD UNDER THE INFLUENCE OF THE

Dr. J. H. Borland, a prominent eye and ear specialist in Pittsburg, was taken to the central police station Monday a victim of the cocaine habit. About one o'clock Monday morning he became very violent, and, under the delusion that he was attacked by burglars. drew a revolver and began firing indiscriminately right and left. Other occupants of the house were awakened and rushed into the room, whereupon the doctor leaped through a delegate to Congress without opposition. In Utah John T. Cain had a walk-over against rear window and took refuge in an outhouse It was with the greatest difficulty that he was made to understand that he was not pursued by burglars, and he then returned to his office, A physician was sent for, who, detecting a couple of red spots on Dr. Borland's arm, asked to e allowed to look at them. Quick as a flash the sleeve was rolled down and Borland posilively refused to grant the physician's request. That part of Oneida county bordering on the North Woods is all excitement over the arrest of cocaine, from which half of the contents had been used, and a syringe were found. This is the first serious case developed in Pittsburg from the use of cocaine. The habit had so committed more than a month ago the victims grown on Borland that he constantly kept the were so intimidated that they dared not make drug about him. About a week ago he had a a complaint till now. Hugh Dorrity and Miss Susie Jones, who live at Northwestern, were trenzied attack and sent for a physician, who, becoming frightened at the sight of a revolver riding along a lonely highway late in the night when they were halted at the muzzle of revolin Borland's hands, was compelled to send for assistance before he could apply a remedy.

WITH ABUSING A PUPIL. An Atlantic City special, November 1, says: Considerable excitement was occasioned here yesterday by the arrest of Prof. Clarence E. Morse, principal of the Penn Avenue public school. The warrant was issued by Justice Gouldney, on the complaint of Robert J. Dunkel, a pupil, who charges the professor with assault and battery. Dankel is 15 years of age. While doing an example in algebra last Thursday he by mistake wrote the figure 4 as a prime number. Morse, it is alleged, flew into a violent passion, and, seizing Dunkel by the collar, threw him with great force against a red-hot stove and then dragged him about the room and over a seat. The complainant further alleges that the professor called him a leatherhead and other abusive names. It is also said that the professor swore at his pupil in Latin. The lad's father, who is connected with the Merchants' bank here, is greatly incensed at Morse's alleged conduct, and will pursue the professor to the full extent of the law. Mr. Morse gave bail to appear for trial.

An Aggressive Female Doctor. SHE HORSEWHIPS A MAN IN THE STREET. A Chambersburg, Pa., special, November 2, says: Dr. Crawford, a young lady homospathic physician of Chambersburg, publicly horsewhipped Mr. Henry Heefner on one of the pubtic streets of the town last evening. Miss Hill a young sister of Dr. Crawford's partner, claims that on several occasions, as she has been going and returning to Wilson college, Heefner has insulted her. Last evening Miss Hill met Heefner on the street when he stepped up to her. Dr. Crawford, who was immediately in the rear, jumped, caught Heefner by the arm and administered several severe cuts upon his face and neck with a cow-hide. Heefner ran and Miss Hill was taken home by Dr. Crawlord. The event was witnessed by a crowd and caused considerable excitement. Dr. Crawford is a young and rather pretty brunette, who is a native of the county and of a respectable family. She has practiced in Chambersburg for three years and has a large practice.

Tacked ship and stood for it to see what it was. When nearly to it it started ahead about three or four knots, leaving a big wake behind it. We chased it with a light breeze for about fifteen minutes, and came to the conclusion that it was a torpedo boat or some internal machine with steam in it. We hauled on the wind again. Whoever or whatever it was evadently did not want to be spoken, for after we hauled on the wind it slacked its speed. THIS BEATS THE SEA SERPENT YARN-The
